

Did You Know

By Pat J. Kirlwa

THAT the exact distance between the north and south corporation lines of the city is 12,000 feet.

That the writer is in receipt of a communication from a reader in Charleston, W. Va., who states we are wrong in saying that our county is the only place in the United States to have the name of Pickaway. According to his letter, there is a town in Monroe-co., W. Virginia called Pickaway. Incidentally he says there is a Circleville in Pendleton-co., W. Virginia.

That 15 years ago Charles Keller, a resident of this city, caught a 47-pound catfish which measured four feet and four inches. The "whopper" was caught in the Scioto river. Its mouth measured seven inches across. The fish was sold to W. E. Pickens who served fish sandwiches for many days.

That there are only 13 Civil War veterans living in Pickaway-co. out of a total of 2,500 who enlisted at the beginning of the war. Six veterans have passed away in the past three months.

THAT Allen O. Myers, a resident here 25 years ago entered Ohio State University for a four-years course at the age of 58.

That in the Jan. 2nd, issue of the Literary Digest favorable comments were made on a radio address given over the National Broadcasting system by W. F. Gephart, a native of Williamsport and an uncle of E. J. Gephart, N. Court-st. Mr. Gephart is now vice-president of the First National Bank of St. Louis and in this address gave some interesting points on "the way out of the present depression."

That the severest winter known in this section occurred in 1791. On January 8 of that year the thermometer dropped to 18 degrees below zero.

That consideration is being given to a proposed plan of renaming the business block on the east side of N. Court-st. between Watt-st. and E. Main-st. and calling it "Fountain Square." The significance of the name comes from the fact that there are four soda fountains and ice cream parlors within this territory. These include those of A. C. Cook, Ed. Ebert, Hamilton & Ryan and John J. Mack.

That Col. Elias Florence, great-grandfather of Miss Anna Florence, Jackson-twp. who represented Pickaway-co. and other counties in this district in Congress a number of years ago was one of the very few residents of the county who belonged to the Whig party. He served in both houses of the state legislature and was colonel of the state militia in 1852. His grandfather was an officer under General Lafayette in the American Revolution.

That two very interesting historical maps drawn by D. Adrian Yates of N. Scioto-co. are on display at the public library. One map is an excellent copy of a map drawn 100 years ago by Felix Renick, an early settler, showing the location of Indian villages, Logan Elm and such. The other map made by Mr. Yates is of his own production and depicts Lord Dunmore's march from Williamsburg, Va., to the Pickaway Plains. He drew the map from readings and reference. Scenes of important battles, the line of march and sites of cities are interestingly shown.

That Charles Brownard, father of Mrs. J. W. Adkins, E. Mound-st. drilled the first oil wells in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

That the writer welcomes contributions at all times. Such will be received by phone, mail or in person.

TRIAL OF CARPER TO END TODAY; JURY GETS CASE THIS AFTERNOON

Final Pleas Were To Be Made This Morning In Fairfield Murder Trail QUESTION OUTCOME

Both Sides Confident Of Winning Cases

The fate of Sisco Carper, 18, Whistler youth, was to be placed in the hands of a jury of 10 men and two women this afternoon in Fairfield-co court house at Lancaster following final pleas for the state and the defense. The youth is charged with murdering his father, Harvey Carper, in the southern part of Fairfield-co last August.

It was generally predicted in Fairfield court house circles that a verdict of first degree murder would not be returned against the youth.

Stories of brutality such as have never before been heard in a court case in Lancaster were unfolded by members of the Carper household before the jury Thursday and Friday. Tales of how the father hanged Sisco in an 85-foot well until he was almost dead, of how he beat the youth after tying him to a porch post, of how he beat one child, Ella, aged 10, with his fist and then with a club eventually causing her death, and other stories of brutality were told by Verona Carper, 28, sister of the youth and by Sheridan Carper, 16, a brother.

The testimony of the younger brother was thought the most important in the defense's case as this boy, who told of the ferocity of his father but in turn said that he did not hate his father, "because he was my father," caused a stir in the courtroom and even among jurors.

Attorneys for both sides, Tom Renick of this city and George Vorys of Lancaster for young Carper and Prosecutor Cunningham and John Stilbaugh for the state, were both confident of victory.

Chief of Police A. T. Clark obtained the letter by making formal demand for it from Mrs. Bower late last night. Mrs. Bower previously refused to permit police to see it fearing her husband would be killed if its contents were revealed.

KEEPER OF STORE KILLS ONE BANDIT

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23.—Marksmanship, acquired during the World War, by John Wirtz, malt store proprietor, today had ended the criminal career of one robber and sent another scurrying away with possible wounds as the result of an attempted hold-up here Friday evening.

The victim, who died in Mercy hospital shortly after being shot, was identified as Howard Benjamin Deal, 30, an ex-convict, who was released from Atlanta penitentiary last November.

While Wirtz, his brother, Andrew, and a brother-in-law were sitting in a rear room, the robbers entered the store. As Andrew approached them, both pulled guns. Witnessing the hold-up, John seized a loaded shotgun, which had been kept in the store since a similar attack two years ago, when his brother was severely beaten. The gun roared, striking Deal in the shoulder near the heart, while another was believed to have wounded the accomplice who escaped in a waiting automobile.

APPEAL MADE FOR WORKERS

Judge Brown Asks Residents To Try To Provide Jobs For Unemployed Men.

Judge E. A. Brown, chairman of Pickaway-co's unemployment organization, issued an appeal Saturday urging citizens of Circleville and of the county to aid needy persons in any way possible.

Over 150 men are now out of jobs and unable to secure work to support their families according to Judge Brown. The incessant rains have held up work on county roads and bridges. These projects have aided a few of the unemployed and now since this work has stopped, the unemployment situation is serious.

Judge Brown asks the citizens if they might have any work to be done around the home, in the yards or other places and should wish to aid some he will gladly supply the men, who are in grave need of employment.

"During the past week the situation has grown serious. Every day more and more men have come asking for help. Many families are without food and clothing and with all of the needy agencies in the city helping to aid the poor, some still go without food," Judge Brown said.

He may be found at his office in the probate court or at his home at 328 E. Main-st.

STOUT GIVEN YEAR, DAY IN FED. PRISON

Plea For Probation Of Attorneys Overruled By Judge Hough Saturday

PLEADED GUILTY Youth May Be Sent To Leavenworth

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 23.—All his efforts to obtain a probationary term failing, Boyd Stout, 22, former substitute clerk in the Circleville, O., post office, was sentenced to a year and a day in a federal penitentiary today for stealing a letter from a postoffice lock box.

Federal Judge Benson W. Hough overruled pleas of attorneys for probation for Stout.

OVERRULES PLEA

"I can't see how I can consider probation in this case," Judge Hough told attorneys, who said that Stout is now employed in a Columbus store where he is "making good."

They also related that the check which Stout pleaded guilty to taking was for only $11.

Federal postal officials told Judge Hough, however, that the post office losses were "fairly numerous" and that Stout's record is "not in his favor."

CITE LEAVENWORTH

Stout probably will be sent to Leavenworth penitentiary although it has not been definitely decided in which prison he will serve his time.

What is implied in the idea of creativity in religious education? The idea of creativity suggests a line of development having a place for initiative and originality. It is not enough that the teacher should be original and full of initiative, seeking to set in motion in the pupil's life the mysterious thing called spiritual growth and endeavoring to set free in him those abilities and powers, which mark the religious life; essential as this is, it is only half the story. The other half is found in the notion that the end which the teacher must have in view is to make of the pupil, in turn, a creator.

Creating creators is the business of Christian education. And although teaching is partly an art, at this point it differs from the arts. A painter creates a picture, a sculptor a statue. Picture and statue are objects; they can be finished; each expresses its author; but a pupil is a subject; his teacher does not finish him, but begins. In Christian education, the pupil expresses himself, a far deeper self to be sure than he could have discovered or expressed without the teacher's help, yet a self that is original and distinct from the teacher's, if the latter has been successful.

The true educative process is, therefore, one in which the creative principle is at work all along the line, including the part played in it by God himself.

Lesson for January 24
JESUS AND THE SAMARITAN WOMAN

LESSON TEXT—John 4:1-42.
GOLDEN TEXT—This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief.
PRIMARY TOPIC—Jesus Helps a Stranger.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Jesus Befriends a Foreigner.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Jesus Talking with a Samaritan Woman.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—How Jesus Deals with Sinners.

I. Jesus at Jacob's Well (vv. 1-6).
The growing popularity of Jesus aroused the envious opposition of the Pharisees which obliged him to leave Judea and go into Samaria. There was another way to reach Galilee, on the eastern side of the Jordan, the one used by many Jews to avoid contact with the despised Samaritans. He "must needs go through Samaria" in order to find this poor sinful woman and the needy citizens of Sychar. The great necessity which was upon him was to seek and to save that which was lost (Luke 19:10).

II. Jesus' Testimony to the Samaritan Woman (vv. 7-20).
1. A favor asked (vv. 7-9). Jesus tactfully made a request which appealed to the woman's sympathy. Not only did the thirst of the weary traveler appeal to her, but the fact that he, being a Jew, asked a favor of her, showed his sympathy for her. In introducing the conversation, he referred to that which was uppermost in her mind; namely, water. This was the divine Teacher's point of contact. He soon passed from earthly water to the water of everlasting life which was in himself.

2. Jesus' tender dealing with this woman (vv. 10-15). He first appealed to her curiosity by declaring, "If thou knewest the gift of God" (v. 10). He knew the deep unrest of the soul of this sinful woman as she went on her way. He knew that if she really knew him, she would believe in him and be saved from her sins. Therefore, he first sought to get her attention. This appeal to her curiosity was followed by a promise which directed her attention to her deepest needs. There is a consciousness of deep need in every soul. In her efforts to satisfy her nature, this poor woman respected neither the law of God nor the rights of men. The deepest need of the soul can only be satisfied by Jesus Christ. The woman's reply, "Sir, give me this water that I thirst not," is the inarticulate cry of every human heart.

3. The woman convicted of her sins (vv. 15-19). Jesus succeeded in arousing her interest, but she did not really understand him. Before she could understand what the water of life is, she must be convicted of her sins. He skillfully gave the command which brought her face to face with the facts of her life that she was unwilling to confess. She did not argue with him, but because a humble inquirer. The soul must be convicted of its sin before there can be conversion.

4. The problem of worship submitted to Christ (vv. 20-24). This she did as soon as she perceived him to be a prophet. This indicates that he was succeeding in bringing her mind to spiritual things. Jesus, knowing the inner life of this woman, told her of the glad time, even then present, when true worshippers could hold intercourse with God anywhere. He showed her that the place of worship is unimportant, that the all-important thing is to have the true conception of God as brought through the Jews. He exposed the folly of a religion of form only, and showed that acceptable

Book Review
World over stories by Lambertson, The Abingdon Press, are stories of courage, patriotism and loyalty, of value in the character education of junior children. They may be used as a basis for discussion by teachers or parents or may be read by the children themselves.

Adult Education by Hart, The Thomas Y. Crowell Co. presents the problems which the adult education movement must face and suggests means of meeting these problems. The book includes a comprehensive criticism of public education in this country.

Sermon Sentences

Discussion on Questions S.S. Lesson

1. Why were the Samaritans despised?
2. What evidences are there that the Samaritan woman was a grave sinner? What is a sinner?
3. How did Jesus probe her conscience?
4. What does it mean to think of God as a spirit?
5. What does it mean to worship God in spirit and in truth?
6. What relation has formal worship to spirituality?

Clericus says, "To worship God in spirit, we must worship him as a spirit, and without the intervention of any sensible form. We must worship him as a holy God and we must worship with the spirit."
To worship God in truth is to worship him intelligently.

Lesson Prayer—"We would learn the fine art of worship; help us to learn to look to Thee, the only true God and to keep our heart and mind fixed upon God and his will concerning us and to experience a soul satisfaction of peace in our soul."

One Point Victory Goes to Westerville Team

Tigers Victims Of Tough Luck

By Pat Kirwin

Handicapped by the illness of Carl Purcell, offensive ace, Coach "Pete" Herberholz' high school Tigers dropped another "heart-breaker" to Frank Ballenger's Westerville Wildcats in the latter gym Friday night. The score was 23-22. The loss forces the Tigers to third place in the Central Buckeye League.

The game was the closest contest in which the Tigers have figured this year with the score tied eight times. Failure of the Red and Black courtiers to check long shots early in the game is probably a reason for the loss as Martin, tall Westerville center, dropped three long shots one in the bucket in the first half after trying many, many times.

Carl Purcell entered the game suffering a painful headache and it could be easily observed that his condition would hurt the Tigers' chances. The Ballenger-coached aggregation with its motto "to get into the game or bust" almost made a football game for the Red and Black.

Bill Hegele opened the scoring as he dropped a goal in from under the bucket. Quickly Martin of the Red and White followed with a long shot to tie the score for first time. Dean White completed a foul to give the Red and Black a slight edge but this was broken when Moody of Westerville also got a charity toss and the score was tied again. Just before the third quarter ended, Dean White listed another free throw and the Red and Black led at the end of this first session, 4-3. Play in this first period was rather slow as both teams played tight defensive early. Westerville took its first lead early in the second quarter, when Martin again hit the bucket for a long shot but Purcell soon tied the score with a completed foul. Dean White gave the Red and Black the lead again by hitting the hoop but soon after Martin scored his third long shot for Westerville and the score was tied, 7-7. Bill Hegele added a goal followed by White who got a charity toss to give Circleville a 10-7 lead, but just before the gun sounded for half time, Roshon got a pot shot to make the

GIRLS DEFEAT WESTERVILLE

Held Close in First Half, Local Tossers Break Loose in Second To Win.

Coach Rains' Circleville high school girls' team added another victim to its list Friday night as it defeated the Westerville girls' team by the score of 26-16. Checked closely in the first half, the Red and Black girls were unable to go so fast but in the last two sessions, the Westerville lassies were unable to stop them as they added one bucket after the other.

The first quarter was close with neither team going very far. The score at the end of this period was 3-2, with Circleville in the lead.

Fitzpatrick and Bennett got loose for several minutes in the second session long enough to raise the Red and Black score to eight while the Westervilles were battling to obtain two more markers. The score at the end of the first half was 7-5.

With Jane Hiller and Jean Fitzpatrick hitting the hoop freely in the last two periods, the Red and Black almost staged a runaway.

The score at the end of the third period was 15-9 with the Red and Black getting most of its score in the last session.

Next week the girls will play Logan at the high school gym here.

Pfeiffer of Denison refereed last night's contest.

Champions Waiting Gun for Winter Olympics

All set for the Winter sports events of the Olympic Games are the devoted sons and daughters of Father Winter, who will compete at Lake Placid, New York, in the contests to decide the world championships. Outstanding among them are Sigmund Ruid, of Norway, who holds the world's ski jump record of 267 feet; Irving Jaffes, of New York, Olympic skating champion at 10,000 metres, and Gills Graftstrom, of Sweden, twice Olympic figure skating champion. The famed Sonia Henie, of Germany, women's Olympic figure skating queen, will be on hand to defend her title. One who is expected to add to Uncle Sam's point score is Jack Shea, of Dartmouth, new intercollegiate middle distance skating champion. There was a time when the European entries excelled in the Winter events, but that is a thing of the past. Uncle Sam's nephews and nieces, competing on home grounds, are this year expected to be way up front in the final point score. Final trials are being staged and the invaders are sure to meet real competition when the events get under way at the New York resort next month.

Every housekeeper in Circleville and vicinity can attend if she will plan next week's days to permit four afternoons of freedom. The sessions begin at Memorial Hall at two o'clock, although the doors open an hour earlier. A musical program begins as soon as the doors are open. There will be a well equipped kitchen at which the early comers may look, and question blanks and name blanks to fill out. The leaflet of recipes should be read before the lecturer begins her talk so that any questions may be asked while the cooking demonstration is under way. The number of inquiries which have already come into The Herald office indicate that every session will be crowded. Gifts of generously filled market baskets will be distributed at every session and on Friday the important and valuable larger gifts will be given away. Watch for further announcements of these valuable aids to housekeeping.

Shunning Opportunity

If it is free people will fight for the most worthless trinket, but a majority of them take advantage of the opportunity of free education only as long as compulsory attendance laws leave them no alternative. Free schools belong to those heritages which cease to be cherished once they become a fact. Free education is virtually universal in the United States, a few isolated, sparsely settled and impoverished regions being the only exceptions. Any boy or girl with the determination to know can have a high school and even a college education. Within the reach of all yet how few reach out for them!

Take any hundred children finishing the fifth grade in grammar school. How many will complete their education? United States bureau of education statistics show that only 83 will finish the sixth grade, 71 the seventh, 63 the eighth, 34 the first year of high school, 24 the second year, 18 the third year and 13 will graduate.

Of the 13 who win high school diplomas seven will complete their first year in college, five their second year, three their third year and two their fourth or last year.

Thirteen per cent of the country's young manhood and womanhood in this day of enlightenment and universal education have a high school education and only two per cent possess college or university diplomas. Hardly a record of which a country which boasts of its educational opportunities can be proud.

How do those scoffers at the advantages of an education reconcile these figures with their pet lament that the trouble with America is that the high schools and colleges have made everybody a white-collar job hunter? The real trouble is that many young men refuse to let the schools take them out of the ranks of the white-collar-job hunters and place them in the ranks of the white-collar-job holders.

Versailles in Retrospect

THIRTEEN years ago representatives of the most powerful countries of the world were struggling at Versailles with issues brought into prominence by the world war. When the peace conference ended it was thought that all issues were on a fair road to solution. Today finds them probably as far from solution as ever.

Europe is again struggling with the reparation question brought into the controversy through their tie-up with payments on allied debts. From time to time it is proposed to give Germany a mandate over some of the colonies taken from her after the war. The League of Nations is still at issue and has not yet become the omnipotent instrument of peace Woodrow Wilson, the idealist, visioned it. The weak are still at the mercy of the strong and the belligerent still reject arbitration out of a preference for force. And universal disarmament, which was to come about within a few years through a war-borne abstinence from war, is again the stock-in-trade of Europe and Asia where there has been a return of faith in the panacea of competitive armaments.

The world picture seems dark, indeed, and the hope of world reform may appear forlorn, yet some progress toward world amity and permanent peace has been made since Versailles. Public opinion, at least, has gone through a refining process which may soon produce good results. There may be war in the air but it will take more flag-waving and rattling of the drums to start the next war of aggression.

Reconstruction

NO piece of legislation in years has aroused so much interest and hope throughout the country as the reconstruction finance corporation bill, which passed the senate by a vote of 63 to 3 and the house by a vote of 235 to 55.

With exceptions that were unimportant, numerically and otherwise, both major and other rebel elements were to the administration, which sponsored the bill, rather than to the bill itself.

There are some differences between the bill passed by the senate and that which carried in the house but it is believed that they will quickly be cleared up in conference.

Through this legislation congress will open the way to business recovery and as soon as the government-financed corporation gets to work its usefulness will be manifested in many different ways. The enterprise itself is an expression of confidence felt by all in the foundation of American finance and business. The great credit structure, which is to serve as a bulwark of industry, must be erected upon a foundation of "frozen" assets but they are assets that have not lost their inherent value. All they need is thawing by the blowtorch of re-stated public confidence.

By now they all knew that Evelyn was a niece of Mrs. Carstairs—THE Mrs. Carstairs.

SYNOPSIS
Leaving Hawaii shortly after her father's death, young and beautiful Fanchon Meredith goes to San Francisco, where she meets and loves a handsome man named Tony Fanchon. She is shocked to learn that Tony is a racketeer, implicated in a recent murder. She, too, is wanted. Fanchon escapes in an airplane under the name of "Smith." Evelyn Howard, whom she had met on the boat coming from Hawaii, is aboard. Evelyn is enroute to New York to live with her aunt, the wealthy Mrs. Carstairs, whom she has never met. After Fanchon confides in Evelyn, the latter treats her coolly. The plane crashes and Fanchon is the only survivor. She decides to escape Tony and the past and start life anew by masquerading as Evelyn. She requests a doctor to wire Mrs. Carstairs that "Evelyn" is safe.

CHAPTER VIII
Half a dozen times before she reached New York, Fanchon was seized with a frantic desire, born of sheer, blind panic, to get out at the first best station, to run away, to hide, to find a ship that sailed for far countries and alien seas, to run away from the old life of Fanchon Meredith, the hunted life of "Miss Smith," the self-chosen, stolen life of Evelyn Howard, who was going toward safety, toward people who cared, toward freedom.

Once she rose and took down the borrowed hat from the rack. Once she picked up the straw sun case the farmer's wife had loaned her, with a few bare necessities in it, once she walked, suitcase in hand, to the door of the drawing room and laid her hand upon the knob. But returned at once to her seat by the window and her bewildered, frantic thinking. She could not go back. She must go on. Her mind felt hurt and bruised with the effort. At a thought, her bandaged arm ached, her wrenched muscles cried out.

"You have a very bad shock and shaking up," Doctor Warren had said, "and I wish you would stay on with Mrs. Lawson for a few days. But if you won't, you won't. Only my orders—professional orders, are—that when you reach your destination, you permit yourself to be put to bed and you stay there."

She had promised.

At the first big city, they reached, the train and the train and invaded her drawing room. Eager, shock-haired boys, one lean, sawn man and a couple of pretty "sob sisters" they apologized for their intrusion, but told her that in the interest of the news and public they must have her first hand story of the accident.

She knew that it was safer not to antagonize them. They perched on the seats, in the arms of things, even squatted on the floor, listening avidly. The train stopped over there for half an hour. During that time Fanchon told them what she recalled of the accident itself. One of the reporters said, had been an important man in his town. This was being played up in the press. The pilot, too, McKinnon, for he had had a war record and had also been pilot on a successful flight from England to Australia. He also was news, said the reporters, not callous, not unkind, simply seeking to feed their master, the insatiable press.

And Fanchon herself was news. By now they all knew that Evelyn Howard was a niece of Mrs. Carstairs—the Mrs. Carstairs. That was news, too, the wire that reached her at the station at which the reporters got on.

"Waiting anxiously. Collin would have come out and brought you the rest of the way, but he is in Canada and cannot be reached in time," wired "Aunt Jennie."

Collin thought Fanchon. But during their rapid fire conversation, the reporters enlightened her. Collin was Mrs. Carstairs' only son. A big game hunter. A polo player. An eligible bachelor. One of the most eligible. He was in the North Woods at present, she learned, simply by listening when one of the reporters asked her: "We understand that Mr. Collin Carstairs is up North?" and by nodding intelligently.

Evelyn hadn't spoken of Collin. Why? wondered Fanchon.

Had she a picture of herself? They wanted to know.

She had not. But a camera man was there. Fanchon raised her hands protestingly. No pictures! She hadn't thought of that. Tony might see the picture. . . . Tony might recognize her. . . .

The picture was, however, taken. She thought courageously that, after all, some hope was left. Newspaper pictures were notoriously unrecognizable, the borrowed hat had shadowed her face; and her face itself was pale and almost gaunt with the shock of what she had been through. He might not see it; or, seeing, recognize her.

They asked her about "Miss Smith." To all their questions she replied—as there was now no one left of all the party to bear witness against her—that she had never seen the other girl until they boarded the plane together. That she understood she had made her home in San Francisco and was leaving it to take up work—library work, Fanchon thought—in New York. And that she had heard "Miss Smith" say that she had no living relatives. No, she did not know her given name; had never heard it.

One reporter mentioned carelessly, that the girl had died an hour or so before they had boarded Fanchon's train.

Fanchon's eyes filled with nervous tears. Dead, Evelyn Howard constituted no danger for her living. She would have been at perpetual peace. Dead, Fanchon could remember that she had been young, that she had loved life, that she had

"Vaquez' Disease" Means Having Too Much Blood

Presence of This Strange, Rare Malady Can Be Determined Only by Blood Tests, and Until a Few Years Ago No Remedy for It Had Been Discovered

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

ABOUT fifty years ago an eminent physician named Vaquez described a new and rare blood disease. The disease is now spoken of as "Vaquez' disease," but is also known as "polycythemia vera."

We frequently hear of individuals having too little blood, but it is rare to learn of anyone having too much blood. In Vaquez' disease the afflicted person suffers from too much blood.

The disease is rare, but occurs in both males and females, and usually after the age of fifty. The cause of the disease has not yet been discovered. It is known to occur in families.

An individual suffering from this disease has unusual color in his face. The face is light red and becomes bluish red upon exertion. This is a characteristic sign of the disease, though some cases have been reported where this sign was absent. Weakness and weariness, loss of weight, dizziness, noises in the ears, difficulty in breathing, nausea, indigestion and severe headaches are other classical symptoms found in this disorder.

The hands and feet frequently "glow" and feel frequently "hot asleep." This annoying sensation, associated with vague neuralgia, pains, prevents necessary sleep and rest. The sleeplessness in these cases is difficult to cure until the underlying cause is recognized. Very often the hand is engorged with blood when held down, and becomes rapidly anemic when held up.

It would be difficult to recognize this disease as the few symptoms I have outlined are less disturbances are present in many other ailments. These signs, however, are sufficient to suggest Vaquez' disease. The suspicion is easily, and definitely confirmed by a laboratory examination of the blood.

In this condition the blood tests show that the blood is too rich in coloring matter and in the number of red and white blood cells. Normally the blood should contain about three million red blood cells per cubic millimeter of blood. In Vaquez' disease there are found from eight to four million red blood cells. Two to three times the normal number of white blood cells are found in this ailment. The hemoglobin, which is the coloring matter of the blood, is found to be 100 per cent, whereas the normal percentage of hemoglobin is from 70 to 85 per cent.

At one time this disorder was considered a hopeless and fatal disease. It was first successfully treated in 1924. A specific drug was used in that year in the treatment of this rare disease, and it has since been used with increasing success. The drug is used with extreme care and under medical supervision, since in excessive doses it produces a severe and fatal anemia.

Not so long ago blood letting was extensively practiced for the relief of this condition. This treatment no longer given, as that relief is temporary and without permanent benefit.

At the Circleville Theatres

AT THE CLIFTONA
"Ben-Hur" the four-million-dollar picture which created a sensation in every part of the world when first shown six years ago makes a triumphant return augmented with sound and will be shown tomorrow Monday and Tuesday at the Cliftona Theatre. This picture, filmed both in Italy and California over a period of three years with a cast of 15,000 persons is the production which first brought Roman Nazario to fame. Others who play important roles include Francis X. Bushman, May McAvoy, Betty Bronson, Claire McDowell, Keith and Kay.

Thrilling Sound Effects
The noise of a flying flash of weapons, furious battles and grinding of wheels as introduced for the first time in the present sound version, make these tremendous episodes even more thrilling than in the silent version. Now you can hear the throb of the great chariot race and see the fight as well as see them.

The story, set about 26 centuries ago, is about the feud between Jew, Ben-Hur, and some young Jew, Ben-Hur, and the villainous Roman, Messala, during the period of ancient history when Jerusalem was conquered by the Romans.

AT THE GRAND
Joe Smith and Charles Dale, former champions of the Avon Circuit, but now leading exponents of the new Warner and Vitaphone picture, "Ben-Hur," which comes Sunday at the Grand Theatre, the celebration of their first year as a team, is entirely they made their first appearance as a black-face singing and dancing team in a small variety theatre and have been a popular attraction ever since.

The new comedy "Ben-Hur" was a success at the Atlantic City Casino, where it was a big attraction. It was a comedy, and it was a success. It was a comedy, and it was a success. It was a comedy, and it was a success.

SALT CREEK TWP. SCHOOL NOTES

NOTES ON GRADUATES
Paul Valentine Reichelderfer, honor student of Salt Creek, last year, is proving himself worthy of the scholarship that was granted him at the Ohio State University, this year.

This student while in high school received a grade "E" in every high school subject that he took at Salt Creek. He distinguished himself last year in the scholarship tests that were given by the state and now he has just received a letter from his Dean stating that he has achieved the unique distinction of being the only freshman in the college of Education who was able to make a straight "A" record in the autumn quarter.

Judson J. Brougher and Charles E. Morris are also at Ohio State, being enrolled in the College of Agriculture. Both of these boys were on the championship basketball team last year and from all reports are doing well at school. James Chilcote, last year's all-county center, is at Ohio University, taking up Physical Education. Without any previous football experience whatsoever, he made the freshman squad this year, and is also making very creditable grades in his school work.

The January meeting of the local P. T. A. will be held Wednesday evening of this week. A good program has been prepared by the committee. Mrs. Smith of WSENY will give several readings. Floyd Reid will furnish music. Other numbers also promise to be good. A what-not lunch will be served.

There was a 100 percent attendance of the Salt Creek School teachers at the county teachers' meeting held at Jackson-twp school, Saturday. Several stayed to witness the basketball game which took place in the afternoon between the coaches of the east and west sides of the river. A few basketball fans journeyed from Tilton to see the game. The game was enjoyed by all, especially Coach Miller.

The school was honored on Thursday afternoon of last week by the presence of the State Director of Education, Mr. B. O. Skinner.

Several sets of supplementary readers and a new Encyclopedia, which have been purchased by the school were received on Monday.

The entire school has started preparing for the Pickaway County Spelling contest to be held in April. The Perfect Attendance records for the first semester are as follows:

First grade: Jimmie Anderson, Frances Carney, Mable Carney, Norma Herron, Marilyn Julian, Jean Spencer, and Harold Moats.

Second grade: Margie Bigham, Stella Hunter, Betty Hutchinson, Esther Speakman, Mary Tatman, Virginia Tatman, Gilbert Anderson, Ralph Carney, James Reichelderfer, Jaul Seymour, and Leslie Stevens.

Third grade: Faye Carney, Mary Catherine Pierce, Betty Herron, Lois Justice, Betty Neff, Mildred Shupe, Eugene Crawford, Frances Fraunfelder, Harvey Julian and John Henry Kerns.

Fourth grade: Edna Anderson, Ruth Mary Crawford, Charlotte Martin and Delbert Tatman.

Fifth grade: Orpheus Chaffin, John Fortner, Merian Hinton, Edward Lutz, Edgar Tatman.

Sixth grade: Mildred Heffner, Kenneth Huffman, Charles Julian, Viles Waliser, Loren Hinton, and Emerson Hutchison.

Seventh grade: Leo Arledge, Dean Busbee, Glen Dawson, Ruth Hall, Grace Heffner, Blanche Hill, Lucile Hunt, Vivian Justice and Bernell Waliser.

Eighth grade: Kenneth Dumm, Carl Edgington, Eugene Parker, John Reichelderfer, Mina Carney, Marie Fetherolf, Virginia Poling, Dorothy Shupe and Elsie Vincent.

High school: Berlin Hinton, Paul Neff, Walter Parker, Margaret Chilcote, Ella Mae Spangler, Marie Poling and George Moore.

Those on the Honor Roll in Miss Kuhn's room for this six weeks are:

Third grade: Francis Fraunfelder, Eugene Crawford, Dorothy Poling, Esther Waliser and Faye Carney.

Fourth grade: Ruth Mary Crawford, Charlotte Schaal, Dorothy Tatman, Pauline Lutz, and Maxine Lutz.

Temperance day was observed last Friday in the school by class discussion, reports, etc.

The foreign visitor who found no one resembling a statesman in Washington is probably the kind of a man who would look for an athlete in a modern athletic club.

The Ashville high school basketball teams played host to the Williamsport teams last Friday evening. The girls were without the services of Kuhlwein but easily defeated their rivals by a score of 29 to 13 in one of the cleanest games ever played on the local floor.

Friday night of this week the local teams meet the Scioto teams for the second contest of the year. These two games ought to prove real thrillers as the Ashville girls and the Scioto boys are both determined to even up for the defeats handed them in the first encounter of the season. They will be played on the local floor and the first game is scheduled to start promptly at 7:00 in order that patrons may attend other functions being held that same evening.

CHILD REMOVES TONSIL
RED BLUFF, Calif.—The five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Hegerman of Cottonwood, near here, today claimed the title of California's youngest "surgeon." Falling, while playing with a sharp tin horn in her mouth, the child snipped out one of her tonsils as neatly as an experienced surgeon could have done it, according to physicians who treated her after the "operation."

CIRCLEVILLE SCHOOLS' PAPER—DEPARTMENT OF THE CIRCLEVILLE HERALD

NO. 19. VOL. 5. ISSUE NO. 198. CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO, SATURDAY, JANUARY 23, 1932. BETTY LEIST EDITOR '34

'Who Wouldn't Be Crazy?' Is Ready For Patrons

Only two dress rehearsals remain for the cast of 'Who Wouldn't Be Crazy' before the nights of presentation, January 27 and 28. This is the first three-act show of the year and the first Thespian Little Theatre play for the high school. No reserved seats may be obtained for this play, but tickets may be secured at the door each night.

The show, written by Katherine Kozanough and directed by J. W. Featherlin, employs more than 40 pupils to be one of the funniest that has been presented at Circleville High school. The scene takes place in the courtyard of the Good Samaritan sanitarium where Jack Marshall is brought by mistake. His father, however, decides to let him stay in hopes that it will cure him of this speed mania. It is here that he meets Lois Meredith who gives amateur theatricals for the patients. Throughout the play innuendo and innuendo are made by their eccentric manners and their disguises.

Pluribus and Fendie, two black-face comedians, also explain how to fly an airplane and new ways to name babies during their romance. Mr. Higgins is the elderly superintendent who is in love with the young head nurse, Miss Lavelle. Evelyn Winslow and Edward Gordon are two lovers in the play who have been separated but are reunited.

Pluribus, as portrayed by John Maxey, is lots of fun and furnishes many laughs. He falls in love with Fendie, Margaret Long, and these two black-face characters furnish most of the comedy of the play.

Inmate one, John Mason, and his partner, Inmate two, Martha McCrady, are crooks in the play and also provide comedy in their disguise of two mental deficients. John presents Bobby Sloane in his wild ride on 'Man O' War' and Martha will interest you in Spanish dances and bull fighting.

Jack Marshall and Lois Meredith, who are acted by John Stedith and Betty Pickens, furnish the romance of the play. Both are good looking and the appealing Jack soon wins his demure blonde. Others may take a lesson from these two on 'making love'.

Hardboiled Officer McCafferty, Robert Hundley, always gets his man. Hundley is a perfect example of virile manhood, a living proof that some high school students could hold their own with the world's champion.

The part of Evelyn Winslow, as interpreted by Jane Mader, is that of a wealthy girl whose mind has been unbalanced by the disappearance of her fiancé, Edward Gordon, Lutz Ashbrook. However, Gordon comes back, and Evelyn and he are together at the happy ending.

Charles Plum, in his portrayal of Superintendent Higgins, will show the dignified administrator how to talk and act. The tired but successful business man wins how to inspect a man who is in charge of asylums from Zarah Marshall, president of the board of directors of the sanitarium who is represented by Gaylord Rose.

Miss Lavelle is the head nurse of the Sanitarium with whom Higgins is in love. Betty Nelson presents this role as a maiden of attractive propensities. Beatrice, who looks pretty, Margorie, who stammers when she is nervous, and Jarst, who is out of sorts with everything, are three girls who are in Lois Meredith's play, and are presented by Marie Richey, Dorothy Bartley, and Ruth Moffitt, respectively. They have a lot of fun pulling blackberry branches out of the matted up Hamlet costume of Reggie Mortimer, Lincoln Mader, who is disappointed because of his failure to win the lovely Lois.

Margaret Bowers, Betty Brown, and Theda Bowers are prompters for the play and the stage men are Donald Wolfe, Henry Bartholomew, Robert Lett, and Charles Rader.

Two choruses will be presented between acts. The first, in the form of a pajama high stepers parade is accompanied by the high school orchestra and includes Dorothy Lyle, Lydia Givens, Eloise Hatz, Florence Camp, Doris Lindsay, Jane Drum, Margaret Buskirk, Dorothy Barnes, Doris Moffitt, Marianne Bennett, Thelma Merz, Margaret Schofield, Mary Stout, Bernice Liston, Betty Morris, and Sara Steinhauer.

MUSIC CO. NAMES MRS. HEISKELL The Bendix Publishing Company, music dealers of Lincoln, Nebraska, is organizing class piano lessons for the children in Circleville schools. Mrs. Rolland P. Heiskell has been selected by the company to give the instructions in Circleville.

Instructions will cost the pupils 25 cents per lesson besides the cost of instruction books. The periods will be about one hour and will begin soon.

The Conservatory Series will be used as in the Cincinnati public schools, Denver, Chicago, and Cincinnati Conservatory.

CONTINUES HIS TALK TO HI-Y Advisor E. I. Gephart continued a group discussion of 'Adventures in Christian Living' at Tuesday's Hi-Y meeting.

It was announced that Rev. C. H. Eichinger would talk to the group on Jan. 26.

ENJOY "HARD TIMES" PARTY

Fifty seniors class and faculty members enjoyed the "Hard times" party, sponsored by the class of '32 and given at the high school building, Thursday evening.

An unusually interesting and amusing program and a delightful "hard times" lunch were undoubtedly the features of the evening of fun and pleasure.

The class members and faculty assembled in the auditorium about 7:30 p. m. to listen to one hour of the most unusual entertainment furnished at school parties for some time. The program in charge of Pres. Pat Kirwin took place in the New York and Chicago studios of the National Broadcasting Co. where the announcer identified each program.

The quadruple-plated symphony orchestra composed of Waldo Hilyard, clarinet; Gaylord Rose, saxophone; Charles Plum, trumpet; David L. Buchanan, violin; Harold Dresbach; drums Lutz Ashbrook, bass; and Dorothy M. Glick pianist, opened the evening activities in offering a popular selection, "All of Me," Marie Richey and Catherine Clossen were soloists of the orchestra.

Other radio numbers were offered by Catherine Clossen, Bill Barthelmas, Dorothy M. Glick, Pat Kirwin, Charles Plum, Marie Richey, Waldo Hilyard, Gaylord Rose, and the symphony orchestra. Following this period of fun the guests were conducted where lunch was served. This included baked ham, baked beans, hot rolls, pickles, ice cream wafers, and coffee.

The committee responsible for the party were general chairman, Ursula Chandler and Charles Plum; program, Bill Barthelmas, Pat Kirwin, Don White, and Robert Adkins; arrangements, George Iles, Jane Hitler, David Buchanan, and Centh Carothers; and eats, Marie Richey, Jane Mader, Mildred Wolfe, and Lutz Ashbrook.

Faculty members and wives who attended the party included Mr. and Mrs. Gephart, Mr. and Mrs. P. S. Herberholz, and guests: Arthur Wheeler of Cincinnati; J. O. Eagleson, Fred Watts Ralph Hite, Misses Volma, Watson, Margaret Mattison, Elma Rainse, Marian Hitler, and Johnda Tootle.

For fifth place the Girls Reserves step in for its bit. The organization has sold three tickets. Margaret Long is its chief seller. Also Harry Wheeler shares the fifth place for his sale of three tickets.

Eighth grade ranks next with the sale of two tickets. Margie Brown has sold the most tickets. George Rader has sold one ticket for the Hi-Y.

Junior Girl Reserves and the fifth period business arithmetic class have sold no tickets. A prize is being offered to the organization selling the most tickets.

Mr. Zaenglein hopes to persuade those at the meeting to have a similar affair at C. H. S. sometime in the future.

TO PLAY FOR SCOUT OFFICIALS High school orchestra, under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein, will play at the Southern hotel, Columbus, Ohio, February 11, for the annual meeting of the Boy Scout officials of Central Ohio Area council.

Mr. Zaenglein's organization was selected from five other competing counties.

SEVEN ENROLL IN GLEE CLUB Successful candidates for the Senior Glee club are Charlotte Moore, Betty Brown, and Virginia Caskey, alto; Baldwin Anderson, Dudley Mills, tenors; Charles Gilt and Glenn Weiler, basses. This examination was held by Miss Johnda Tootle Monday.

A hike was planned but the date was not decided on. Mrs. P. S. Herberholz is captain of the troop.

NORTH SIDE IS FOR C. H. S. ROOTERS

"United we stand, divided we fall." This is the thought that every local C. H. S. sports supporter should hold foremost in mind when he goes into the gym to cheer our basketball team to victory.

This saying is applicable to our case in that all cheering should be concentrated in one place. The north side of the gym is an ideal place for all C. H. S. fans to sit, leaving the remaining room for visitors. When all are together, it takes but little to make the crowd spirited. Rousing good cheers emanating in unison from one cluster will send our team to victory quicker than the week, thin voices sprinkled all over the place.

Why not try it? All fans gather at the next game on the north side and see if mass cheering doesn't sound better.

Remember: Who cheers better than C. H. S. in the Central Buckeye league!

A Clean School Is A Good School

There is a tendency on the part of some careless students to flip paper wads about the room and litter up the floor with bits of scrap paper. This practice is widely prevalent, and oftentimes the mops present unsightly clusters of torn paper. Even chandeliers brim with paper wads which impede the light.

This condition is unquestionable evidence to the visitor of indigent, lazy students. Although warning has been sounded many times by the teachers to abstain from this practice, it seemingly has fallen upon dull ears.

It is only through the cooperation of the student body that rooms can be kept tidy and clean. Don't you be at fault, and the rooms will soon look presentable.

PRESBYTERIAN SOCIAL CLUB HEARS DR. A. W. HOLMAN

The January meeting of the Presbyterian Women Social Club was held in the social rooms of the church Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

The president, Mrs. Clark Will, called the meeting to order. Mrs. E. S. Toensmeier led the group in prayer after which the minutes of the previous meeting were read.

At the close of a brief business session, the president, Mrs. Will, in the absence of the president of the program committee, introduced the first number on the program, a group of songs, sung by Miss Mary Mae Haswell. The three numbers, with which Miss Haswell delighted the audience were "In the Garden of My Heart," by Ernest R. Ball, "Michael's Flute," by Walter Ralfe, and "Nothing," by Libbie Davidson.

Carpeting, Miss Abbie May's Clarke accompanied Miss Haswell.

Mrs. Will cleverly introduced the guest speaker for the evening, Dr. A. W. Holman, who gave a splendid review of his tour of Europe the past summer.

In an informal manner, Dr. Holman described the various modes of travel in the educational tours conducted throughout Europe. He dwelt largely upon the historical points of Europe and the British Isles.

He explained differences of the customs and manners of the people of various countries, described the beauties of the noted city of Pompeii and Venice. He interestingly related his visit to the Vatican in Rome and the principal museums and cathedrals of the foreign capitals. Dr. Holman's address was educational as well as entertaining.

At the close of his talk, Miss Haswell closed the program with a second group of songs entitled, "The Meadow Lark," by Abbie Gernish-Jones and "At Dawning," by Charles Wakefield Cadman.

The usual quarter hour of social visitation ensued, after which the committee in charge of the January session served refreshments. Hostesses for this meeting included Mrs. B. K. RELIEF WORK NEEDS CARS

SANTIAGO.—The National Relief Committee is making a request that automobile owners donate their cars for a brief period in order to assist relief work. The committee points out that there is an abundance of food-stuffs in rural districts which can be obtained at small cost. Farmers would be glad to make a present of grains and vegetables if transport can be arranged—is the slogan of the committee. The committee offers to provide experienced men to drive the cars and they also furnish gasoline.
